

Request for Quotations:
Walnut Creek - Sustainability design projects
April 5, 2019

Project Background:

The City of Walnut Creek has several departments that implement its environmental initiatives, with no central environmental division or department. The Community and Economic Development (CED) department addresses climate change, transportation planning, and overall sustainability. The City's Public Works department addresses solid waste management, water quality, hazardous materials management, climate change, and pest management/pesticide use. Recently, our City Council prioritized updating the City's Climate Action Plan to include a broader focus on overall sustainability for the first time. The City currently has a "Going Green Together" logo that is used for some environmental initiatives.

To address this, CED seeks to develop a new program name and visual identity for Walnut Creek's sustainability initiatives. The goal is to create an overall brand to use across multiple City sustainability programs, and to appeal to a wide audience. We will also use the brand for our Environmental Sustainability and Climate Action Plan update. There has been considerable research on how to effectively message on climate change that should be considered when designing the name and logo. For example, see EcoAmerica's messaging guides.

In addition to the name and visual identity, the City seeks development of a style guide and templates for future digital and print material.

Project Scope:

Item #1: Development of a new name for sustainability initiatives

The City seeks a new name to replace its current Going Green Together name for sustainability initiatives. This may involve community input or focus groups, and input from staff.

Item #2: Development of visual identity

The City seeks a new text-based logo to replace its Going Green Together logo. Typography and styling of the logo should be applicable to the City's sustainability initiatives across departments.

Format: The logo should have both a horizontal design and a vertical design, as well as a full color version and black and white version. The deliverable should be available in vector file formats.

Item #3: Style guide

The City seeks creation of a style guide to ensure consistent messaging across print and digital platforms. The style guide should include guidance for the City's "Going Green Together" e-newsletter.

Item #4: Supplementary collateral

The department also seeks the creation of several supplementary templates, utilizing the new sustainability logo.

- Template for brochure
- Template for postcard
- Template for letterhead that incorporates both the City of Walnut Creek logo and the new sustainability logo. The template should be both for electronic letterhead (Word) and print letterhead.

Project Timeline:

Project will be initiated in May 2019, with Items #1-2 prioritized for completion by July 30, 2019 so that they can be used during the kickoff of the City's update of its Climate Action Plan.

Insurance and Business License:

The successful proposer will need to have insurance and a business license for Walnut Creek. Please see the City's attached standard contract and insurance requirements. For business license requirements, please see the City's website:
